New spring found at Reiter's.
The members of No. 370, A. O. U. W., are requested to be present at the meeting this evening as business of importance will be considered.
The Rock Island and Union Pacific ticket office on Broadway is undergoing extensive improvements that will add much to its attractiveness.
The hoodlum wagon was called to the Washburn freight house last evening and on its return brought the shortest of the swell count of the "immortals" in the quays.
No cases have been tried in the superior court this week. Several cases against the city are set for trial on Monday. The majority of them are for officers' fees.
The Latter Day Saints are holding a special session of religious services in Streetsville, and D. K. Hudson will preach this evening and to-morrow evening.
Excelsior Lodge No. 259, A. F. & A. M., will hold a special communication this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Work in the third degree. Visiting brethren cordially invited. By order W. M.

On account of the entertainment given by the sisters of charity on the evening of the 27th inst. the shortest of the swell count of the "immortals" in the quays.
The Latter Day Saints are holding a special session of religious services in Streetsville, and D. K. Hudson will preach this evening and to-morrow evening.
Excelsior Lodge No. 259, A. F. & A. M., will hold a special communication this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Work in the third degree. Visiting brethren cordially invited. By order W. M.

A letter from London, Eng., announces that Frank Pusey and party have arrived safely at that metropolis and will proceed immediately to the north of Scotland. All are well and enjoying the trip immensely.
The fixtures and gambling outfit of the "Palace" were taken out yesterday and the doors were closed forever. The "boys" say the "lemonade" trade is hardly sufficient to maintain all those who profess to be engaged in it.

The marshal was ordered to serve notices on all of the saloonkeepers yesterday afternoon that their licenses for the present month are over due and that unless they come to time promptly their places of business will be closed forthwith.

The festival and dance given by the ladies of St. Francis Xavier's church last evening was a success. Temple hall was filled with lovers of the dance, and the amusement was continued until a late hour. A neat sum was realized to the church.

Mr. Henry Miller and family desire to express to their many friends a profound gratitude for the many acts of kindness shown them during the last illness and death of the wife and mother. Members of Western Star lodge No. 29 are remembered with special thanks.

Mrs. Henry Ogden, living at No. 7 East Washington avenue, visited the police station yesterday morning to see if the police had any trace of her missing son, who had wandered away from home. The little one was found about 2 o'clock in the afternoon near the corner of Eighth street and Broadway, having traveled nearly a mile. It was restored to his parents.

There were but two cases before Judge Aylesworth in police court yesterday morning. Both were cases of larceny. The defendants were fined $250 each. Richard Harris was the coon who had the row on Main street and led off Oliver Olson such a chase, and W. C. Woodworth was locked up for kicking up such a racket at the Northwestern hotel.

Dan Carriage mourns the loss of his gray trotter, which came to an untimely end yesterday morning. Dan drove out to Big Lake on a fishing trip, and left the animal in a pasture. Some one passing by left the gate open, and the horse strayed into the track, where an incoming Northwestern train struck it, completely severing its head. The animal was carried to a veterinary and had been in the possession of its owner for some time.

W. P. Aylesworth has decided to open an ice cream and fruit stand to enable himself and family to secure a livelihood, he being now totally blind. Squire Biggs generously granted him the privilege of locating his stand on a lot of the city owned by the city on Main street. Mayor Rohrer has granted him a license, and friends are in every way helping him to get a start. While his own act has brought upon him the terrible punishment of total darkness, there is much sympathy expressed, especially for the family, and the new stand will have a liberal patronage.

Mrs. Mary C. Davis, wife of J. S. Davis, died at her home, 512 First avenue, at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening of heart disease. The deceased was enjoying very good health up to the time of her death which was wholly unexpected, and the blow comes with crushing force upon her family and friends. The husband is absent in Colorado and he will be notified by telegraph if possible. One son is also away from home. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral, which will be announced later. The deceased was sixty-three years of age and leaves a large circle of acquaintances and friends.

The concert to begin next Wednesday evening at Bohann's, for the benefit of St. Bernard's hospital, promises to be a very enjoyable occasion. Mr. and Mrs. P. Massey Howard will present songs from "Maid and the Bohemian Girl" in costume, assisted by the members and friends of the Omaha St. Philomena cathedral choir. Mrs. Judd, Mrs. O'Neill and the choir of the city will also take part. Tickets have been placed on sale at Brackett's, McAttee's and Bene's, and the citizens are all invited to contribute toward the hospital fund by attending the entertainment which Omaha and Council Bluffs so generously offer.

Travelers! Stop at the Bechtels.
The Kickapoo Indians, with their wonderful medicines, are here, corner Broadway and Eighth sts.

An Old Farmer Robbed.
The double-headed confidence game and robbery by which an old gentleman, Samuel Eastman, living near Denison, was robbed of $500, has caused no little excitement in the city.

One of the sharpest represented himself as an eastern banker seeking western investments and desirous of buying Mr. Eastman's farm. They started out in a buggy to look over the farm. In a shady cove in the timber they met a burly fellow, pretending to be a Texan, who was buying stock. The Texan told as a joke how he had lost $800 on what he called a "monte" game in Omaha. He showed the banker and Mr. Eastman how it was done, and then the setting followed as usual. The banker won $400. The Texan seemed loaded with money, but remarked that he always went prepared to take care of it—displaying a hideous revolver. Finally the Texan impromptu Mr. Eastman to bet, but he refused. Then he generously offered to give Mr. Eastman $500 if he would sign the right card. The banker quietly called Eastman's attention to the card with the turned corner, and the latter picked it out. The old gentleman picked out the card, and it proved to be the right one. Mr. Eastman declined to take the $500, but the Texan and the banker insisted that it fairly belonged to him. The Texan after a little said it was no more than fair that Eastman should show up that he had lost $800, for he expected to be expected to win against nothing. Mr. Eastman was finally persuaded to go to the bank, while the Texan left $1,500 in the banker's hands to be paid to Mr. Eastman if the latter showed up that he had a like amount. The Texan went with the old gentleman to the bank, secured $1,500 cash, and returning to the shady cove, it was handed over to the banker to count, he being referred to the banker in his pocket, pulled his revolver and disappeared in the brush, leaving the old man Eastman terribly frightened, and the banker trying to collect the money.

The banker expressed regret, and as an eastern capitalist he could more easily afford to lose the $1,500 than Mr. Eastman, and it was partly his fault that he had been robbed. He was going to Omaha, and when he returned to close negotiations for the farm, would bring back enough additional money to make up the loss.

After the disappearance of the two rascals Mr. Eastman made his loss known to Sheriff Moore, who succeeded in tracing them to Des Moines, where they were arrested and brought back. When searched the Texan had $24 and the banker $800. They had various implements belonging to crooks, the Texan wearing a colored shirt front, and justified as to be used as a mask for the face and immediately replied under the vest. The two fellows are to have a preliminary hearing at Denison to-day.

Narrowly Escaped Death.
Yesterday afternoon a little girl got in the way of a Main street car and very nearly met its death. The horses were going at terrific speed, and although the little one was seen by the driver, the car could not be stopped until the child was under the horse's feet. It was knocked down, and when the car came to a standstill the wheels were against the child's body. It was considerably bruised, but the escape with its life was considered a miracle by those who witnessed the accident.

Notes About the City.
The South Omaha opera house will be thrown open to the public to-night for the first time, and the South Omaha Dramatic club will hold the boards with the drama "Found at Last." It is a home enterprise and should be patronized by all South Omahans.

One reason why the ordinance for voting bonds for the city violated the personnel is that the syndicate engineer has not submitted his plans or estimates to the council. Assistant City Engineer Lawrence had his plans ready a month ago.

"Fritz," who so unceremoniously broke up the council meeting Wednesday night, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Reuther yesterday. He is in the city jail, ready for a "Bohemian Fritz."

Owen Brady had Watchman Bull, of the Swift company, arrested for assault and battery. It was tried before Justice Reuther yesterday. Brady was charged with assaulting and smothering in beer to the workmen against the rules of the firm. Bull caught on and prevented him and hence the alleged assault. The case was dismissed.

Ben McCoy's suit for $5,000 damages against the Burlington was heard in North Omaha and concluded yesterday. The jury was evenly divided and were unable to agree, nine being in favor of plaintiff and three against.

The Hoof and Horn has arranged to have items of interest from the convention bulletined at their office.

No trace has been found of the two men who broke jail Wednesday night.

A wash which will remove the sunburn acquired by outdoor sports is made by adding to twelve ounces of elder-flower water six drachms of common soda and six drachms of powdered borax. Applied to the skin it will make it as clear and soft as a baby's.

OMAHA NEWS.

United States Court.
VERDICT FOR THE COMPANY.

The jury in the case of Coy against the Union Pacific Railway company, for personal injuries sustained by being struck by a freight train while getting off of a passenger train at the South Omaha station a year ago, returned a verdict for the company.

SUES FOR DAMAGES.

The case of Chester Case against the Anglo American Provision company and others, the others being the Union Stock Yards company, was on trial yesterday before Judge Thayer. Case was in the employ of the above companies at South Omaha, the 15th of March, 1887, in building a storage house. He was working on the roof of the building when he was working and the company did not warn him that during slippery and muddy weather the railroad track along side of the building was liable to slide when trains were passing over it. That at said time Case was on the roof of the building and the car came in contact with the staking upon which he was working and demolished it, throwing him to the ground; that in the result Case sustained injuries to the extent of a broken leg, wounded knee, three broken ribs and an injured spine; and that since the accident he has been an invalid and unable to work. He asks the court to compel the defendants to pay him $12,000 damages.

District Court.
JUDGE DOANE AND THE LAWYERS.
Mr. Frank Moore, clerk of the district court, appeared in the court-room yesterday as usual to read the minutes of Wednesday's proceedings. In the left breast pocket of his coat was a handsome flag handkerchief, the will-be campaign emblem of the republican party. Whether this handkerchief had anything to do with Judge Doane's energy in the call of the calendar or not is not, nor will it probably ever be known. There was undoubtedly something that agitated his temper, and the manner in which he assigned for trial, passed, continued and dismissed cases was enough to almost take men's breath away. In reply to the announcement made by some attorneys that they had been for the next week, the United States court, he assured them and all the members of the bar that the proceedings in the district court would hereafter take precedence of all other public or legal business and that when cases were assigned they would be called, and when called disposed of in some way and not left for the call from day to day as they had been for the past week. The promptness expected from the members of the bar at the hands of his honor calls to their minds his own usual promptness in attending court when he was a member of the bar even when he had a case on trial.

A $30 COAT.
The case of Love against the Pullman Palace Car company was called for hearing yesterday morning before Judge Doane. Love was riding a Pullman car coming from St. Joseph, Mo., to Omaha and left the car to take breakfast in the dining car. When he returned he found that his coat and hat had been stolen. He asked the court to compel the company to pay him $30, the price of the coat.

A TWO-TIME WINNER.
The second case of Holloway against Snowden for forcible detainer and possession of a store building on Farnam street was concluded yesterday before Judge Holloway and the jury returned a verdict for the defendant, which they did. The case is the same as the one tried Wednesday, in which the verdict was given for the defendant.

THE NOTE OVERDUE.
Proceedings were begun yesterday by Lee M. Wilson against John and Anna S. Hargis to collect $257.50 due on a promissory note, and the foreclosure of a mortgage on real estate in Iowa's decision to satisfy the claim.

Edward and Rachel Ainsworth had property which was taken by the city for the purpose of widening Fifteenth street, and they claim that it was wrongfully taken. Their attorney, they therefore ask judgment against the city in the sum of $4,000.

The appraisers appointed by the city to appraise the lands of Henry St. Felix and Joseph P. Kraiche taken for the purpose of widening and straightening the street, and Twenty-ninth streets, awarded them $50 each, from which they appeal, and yesterday petitioned the court to give them more.

County Court.
OSBORNE WANTS HIS PAY.
D. M. Osborne & Co. brought suit yesterday against the Western transfer and Storage company to collect $124.62 for goods furnished them.

DON'T PAY THE NOTE.
Soper, Wells & Co. allege that the Omaha Art Furniture company gave their promissory note for $232.92, which they have not paid, and yesterday brought action to recover the amount due.

DENNIS' BIG CLAIM BLIND.
Ver Plancier Bros. of St. Paul, Minn., yesterday complained that Dennis C. Hargis has refused to pay a claim bill of $23, and brought suit to recover.

HERMAN BAUMER, WHITE AND GLADE ALLEGED, accepted a draft for $18, which he afterwards allowed to go to protest, and they yesterday petitioned the court to give them more.

MARY'S REQUEST.
Mary Phelps yesterday made application to be appointed administratrix of the estate of Elkanah G. Phelps, deceased.

Choking to the Last.
The virus of rheumatism, often remains in the system through life, when it does not cut the thread of existence suddenly, as it is always liable to do by attacking the heart. Ere the grip of this tenebrous disease tightens, it should be loosened by that beneficent restorative from disease, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will free the sufferer at the outset from subsequent pain and danger.

No purer or more agreeable blood depurative exists, as multitudes of the rheumatic neuritic have ascertained by certified experience. It is through a medium of the regular action of the kidneys and bladder that an outlet is afforded for the escape of impurities which beget not only rheumatism, but gouty ailments and dropsical effusions. To these organs the Bitters gives an impulse, never verging on the bound of irritation, but sufficiently vigorous to cause them and the bowels to perform their functions with clock-like precision. Use it also for dyspepsia, biliousness, fever and ague and debility.

Old linings should be washed, ironed and kept in a receptacle devoted to such things. It is seldom these can be utilized in a good dress, but sometimes come in for course children's garments for everyday wear.
